At The New York Public Library, the long-awaited, and much-heralded, year 2000 encompassed a series of events, transformations, and renewals worthy of the landmark status this year enjoyed on our calendars.

GLOBAL ACCESS: CREATING A VIRTUAL LIBRARY
The creation of a Digital Library Program brought significant advancements in global access to our collections during the year 2000. The overarching mandate of the program is to build a research center in cyberspace by digitizing portions of the comprehensive collections of The New York Public Library’s four physical research centers. This has entailed the ongoing transfer of millions of bibliographical records of the Library’s holdings to an online format, and the digitization of important collections for electronic use. Those catalogs and collections are now accessible from anywhere in the world through our sophisticated website.

The Library currently receives 5.3 million visits annually to its website, with readers coming to us electronically from 176 countries. This has given us the confidence to begin planning a “virtual” New York Public Library, which will combine all the online services, electronic catalogs, digital collections, exhibits, lectures, and public programs of the branch and research libraries.

COLLECTION GROWTH: THE HEART OF OUR GREAT LIBRARY
This year’s acquisitions brought the collections of The Research Libraries up to nearly 43 million items, and those of The Branch Libraries to just over 10 million items – figures that include books, as well as various categories of non-print items such as films, videotapes, material for the blind, musical scores, pictures, and audio

THE INSTITUTION BEGINS THE NEW CENTURY WITH A SECURE POSITION AS ONE OF THE WORLD’S GREATEST LIBRARIES.

Mrs. Vincent Astor, Honorary Chairman of the Board of Trustees, at the Library Lions benefit event
The Research Libraries also secured a number of notable acquisitions as in-kind gifts and special purchases this year. These included the Rudolf Nureyev Archive, the Merce Cunningham Foundation Archive, and the Jim Dine Collection. Including hundreds of videotapes, films, and audiotapes, the Rudolf Nureyev Archive documents the life and career of the legendary dancer and choreographer (see page 23 for more information). The Merce Cunningham Foundation Archive, consisting of a vast mosaic of documents of the choreographer and of the Cunningham Dance Company, further strengthened the Jerome Robbins Dance Division, which serves as a creative laboratory for the dance community the world over.

The renowned American painter, sculptor, performance artist, and printmaker Jim Dine presented the Spencer Collection with a nearly complete collection of his work as a book artist

A Working Script for the Stage from the Novel by Oscar Wilde (1968), and Dine’s most recent book of etchings and his own poetry, Kahi (1999). Last year, the Dance Division was named after the late choreographer Jerome Robbins in gratitude for his magnificent contributions to dance and to the Library for the Performing Arts.

STAFF TRAINING: AN INVESTMENT IN EXCELLENCE
Guiding the evolution of The New York Public Library today is a shared responsibility. The Library’s superb and dedicated staff, spread across three boroughs and employed in 90 different facilities, offer an exceptional level of service to the public. They fulfill, on a daily basis, our promise of being the world’s most democratically accessible source of information and enlightenment.

Since its earliest days, the Library has offered extensive staff training to help maintain its high level of service to patrons. Training in specialty skills in related areas such as storytelling, book discussion leadership, collection development, and outreach techniques. As technology plays an ever greater role in access to information, training has grown to include computer and Internet instruction.

More recently, within The Research Libraries, a grant from the William Randolph Hearst Foundation made possible our Institute for Staff Development, which opened its doors in 1999. The aim is to help staff acquire technical and professional skills that support and facilitate management development, professional/technical skills, and service excellence on a broad scale – in short, to expose staff to new ideas and new concepts that enhance personal growth and professional service.

RENOVATIONS AND GROUNDBREAKINGS: MORE THAN BRICKS AND MORTAR
It has been our ongoing goal at The New York Public Library to refurbish in The Research Libraries included the transfer of the Irma and Paul Milstein Division of United States History, Local History and Genealogy into a beautifully restored suite of rooms off the north corridor on the first floor of the Humanities and Social Sciences Library. The division bears the name of the distinguished donors to the project, Irma and Paul Milstein, whose daughter-in-law Abby S. Milstein serves on our esteemed Board of Trustees.

This year also marked the dedication of the Barbara Goldsmith Preservation Division, the banner under which the Library’s world-renowned Conservation and Preservation laboratories operate on the ground floor of the Humanities and Social Sciences Library. In January 2000, Barbara, a celebrated historian and a valued Trustee since 1987, was honored at a Library dinner for her remarkable contributions to book conservation, and for her many benefactions to the Library.

OUR STAFF FULFILLS OUR PROMISE OF BEING THE WORLD’S MOST DEMOCRATICALLY ACCESSIBLE SOURCE OF INFORMATION AND ENLIGHTENMENT.

Library Chairman Samuel C. Butler and Paul Milstein welcoming Senator Charles E. Schumer to a luncheon dedicating the renovated and relocated Irma and Paul Milstein Division of United States History, Local History and Genealogy; Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan, who was honored as a Library Lion; New York City Council Speaker Peter Vallone and Library President Paul LeClerc at the Library Lions benefit event.
and Photographs, scheduled for completion in the fall of 2001. We are also happily enduring the minor inconveniences surrounding the construction of our new South Court building, now rising within the 40th Street courtyard of the Humanities and Social Sciences Library. The five-story glass structure, by architects Davis, Brody, Bond LLP, will include an auditorium featuring web and broadcast capabilities, a Technology Training Center, and an Orientation Center, for the public, and offices, workspaces, and lounge for staff.

The wholesale, $40 million renovation of the interior of our Library for the Performing Arts, designed by Polshek Partners Architects to allow for closer collaboration between disciplines, will be completed in the fall of 2001. Playing featured roles in the realization of the project are New York Public Library Trustee Dorothy Cullman and her husband, Lewis B. Cullman, preeminent patrons of the arts and possible. We will proudly rededicate the Library’s Lincoln Center building as the Dorothy and Lewis B. Cullman Center. The new main gallery of the Library for the Performing Arts will be named in honor of Donald and Mary Oenslager, in grateful recognition of the gift of the Family of Donald and Mary B. Oenslager.

In The Branch Libraries, the reopening of the newly expanded and renovated Kips Bay Branch in Manhattan was cause for great celebration, as was the opening of the new South Beach Branch, which has tripled in size at its new location in Staten Island (see page 55 for more information). Not simply places where readers of all ages come to satisfy their curiosity, the branch libraries function as community information centers, and are often as critical to a neighborhood’s life as its churches, temples, and schools. Maintaining close ties to residents, librarians strive to create collections that reflect the needs and interests of Internet. This year, temporary sites were also found for the Woodlawn Heights Branch and the Mosholou Branch, while those libraries are renovated over the next year. Outfitted with public computers, reference materials, periodicals, and selected collections, the temporary sites ensure that service to patrons will not be interrupted while the branch buildings undergo much-needed improvements.

PROGRAMS AND SERVICES: CREATING OUR CONSTITUENCY

Poet Maya Angelou and Johnnetta Cole, President Emeritus of Spelman College, were honored guests at the June luncheon launching the celebration of the 75th Anniversary of the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture. A national $20 million anniversary fundraising campaign, chaired by Dr. Cole and announced at the luncheon, will support efforts to build the collections, foster new scholarship, and extend access to Schomburg’s 75th anniversary was marked in a series of exhibitions, conferences, and events celebrating African American and diasporan history. The first of these was the exhibition Lest We Forget: The Triumph over Slavery, created from the Center’s own archives and items on loan from other private and public collections. Based on new scholarship and curated by Howard Dodson, Schomburg Center Director, Lest We Forget was a supremely moving presentation of the ways in which African people survived slavery to create diverse languages, religions, and families from the experience (see page 35 for more information).

The Schomburg Center’s reexamination of slavery was one of many exhibitions offered within The Research Libraries to illuminate, interpret, and extend access to the Library’s collections to both the scholarly community and general public. Two exceptional exhibitions bear mentioning.

THE BRANCH LIBRARIES ARE NOT SIMPLY PLACES WHERE READERS OF ALL AGES COME TO SATISFY THEIR CURIOSITY, BUT FUNCTION AS COMMUNITY INFORMATION CENTERS.

*Bronx Borough President Fernando Ferrer at the Literacy Week open house at the Fordham Library Center for Reading and Writing; Library Trustee Dorothy Cullman and her husband, Lewis B. Cullman, at the Library’s Corporate Dinner; and Governor George E. Pataki, Manhattan Borough President C. thèque nationale de France, and drew from the considerable collections of both institutions. Presented in both New York and Paris, the exhibition explored ideal societies, both imagined and attempted, from antiquity to the present day. Dreams and dreamers of a better world were revealed in more than 400 items, including books, manuscripts, drawings, prints, maps, photographs, film clips, and record album covers (see page 39 for more information).

Seeing Is Believing: 700 Years of Scientific and Medical Illustration featured books and manuscripts, chiefly from the Library's abundant collections, dating from the 13th century to the early 20th. The critical discoveries in the history of the sciences and medicine were revealed through the “language” of illustration (see page 43 for more information).

We are continually gratified by the depth of support for the Library, which Young Lions, drew into the fold a new group of admirers in their 20s and 30s. Within months, the group swelled to more than 250 members, whose contributions benefit The Research Libraries (see page 47 for more information).

The Corporate Dinner, another new fundraising initiative for the Library, honored Thomas Middelhoff, Chairman and CEO of Bertelsmann AG, as its first Corporate Lion. Held on June 19 in the Celeste Bartos Forum, the dinner brought in $1.3 million for The New York Public Library.

SECOND CENTURY CAMPAIGN: SUCCESS BY ANY MEASURE
This year brought the successful conclusion of our Second Century Campaign. In brief, the ambitious fundraising campaign, conceived as a means to prepare the Library for its second century of service, was launched in 1993, at the conclusion of the strategic review of The New York Public Library that President
Library officially announced the Second Century Campaign to the world, we had raised the bar to $500 million. At the time, the scope of the Campaign was unprecedented, not only for The New York Public Library but for any library or cultural institution.

By the Campaign’s conclusion, on December 31, 2000, we had far exceeded its original goals. Through the leadership of our Board of Trustees and the efforts of our staff, $723 million was raised; of that amount, $372 came from private individuals, foundations, and corporations, while government support – from city, state, and federal sources – totaled $351 million.

But the numbers alone cannot convey the full extent of this monumental endeavor. That appreciation can come only with an awareness of the magnificent achievements the Campaign has made possible for the Library and the public it serves. Indeed, the institution priorities set by the Campaign in the areas of collections, access, and endowment. The results were:

• Substantial increases in the size and breadth of our collections;
• Increased public access from anywhere in the world to the collections, services, and programs of the Library;
• A 50 percent growth in the Library’s endowment, strengthening the foundation of our operations and activities.

SUPPORT IN 2000: CONTRIBUTING TO THE LIBRARY’S GROWTH

Underlying virtually everything that happens at The New York Public Library is the model of a partnership between the public and private sectors. From the Library’s origins in 1895 until today, it has been the substantial financial commitments of both sectors that have brought the Library to its present condition of prestige and prominence. The achievements of the year 2000 were no exception.

WE ARE CONTINUALLY GRATIFIED BY THE DEPTH OF SUPPORT FOR THE LIBRARY, WHICH HOLDS A PLACE IN THE HEARTS AND MINDS OF SO MANY NEW YORKERS.
Giuliani, its City Council Speaker, Peter F. Vallone, and his fellow City Council Members; U.S. Senators Daniel Patrick Moynihan and Charles E. Schumer, and Representatives Charles B. Rangel, José E. Serrano, James T. Walsh, and the entire New York Congressional Delegation; Governor George E. Pataki, State Assembly Speaker Sheldon Silver, and State Senate Majority Leader Joseph L. Bruno, and their fellow members of the State Legislature; and Bronx Borough President Fernando Ferrer, Manhattan Borough President C. Virginia Fields, and Staten Island Borough President Guy V. Molinari for the substantial support they provided to The New York Public Library this year.

We are also delighted to record our great appreciation to all our private-sector benefactors in fiscal 2000. Their names can be found on pages 32 to 52. Our profound thanks go to those who made gifts of $1 million or more in fiscal 2000:

- The Kresge Foundation
- Estate of Charles J. Liebman
- Nash Family Philanthropic Fund
- Stavros S. Niarchos Foundation
- PaineWebber Group Inc.
- The Carl and Lily Pforzheimer Foundation, Inc.
- The Jerome Robbins Foundation, Inc.
- The Starr Foundation
- Vivendi Universal
- Sue and Edgar Wachenheim III
- Sue Ann and John Weinberg
- John C. Whitehead

In closing, the Trustees offer their deepest thanks to the thousands of individuals and organizations invested in the Library.

The New York Public Library is in sound financial condition, with net assets of $591.6 million at June 30, 2000. During the past year, the Library’s net assets increased by $55.1 million; over the past five years, those assets increased by $248 million, or 72%.

SUMMARY OF FINANCIAL ACTIVITIES
The Summary of Financial Activities (page 12) presents in abbreviated form the Statement of Activities contained in the Library’s audited financial statements. The complete financial statements, including notes and the unqualified opinion from our auditors, Ernst & Young LLP, are available upon request.

OPERATING SUPPORT AND REVENUES
The Branch Libraries and The Research Libraries are distinguished from each other not only by their collections and services, but also by their funding. Support from the city, state, and federal governments in the form of payments to the Library comprises 76% of total operating support and revenues for The Branch Libraries, compared with 32% for The Research Libraries and Librarywide Programs (figures 1 and 2). The City of New York provides additional support through the rent-free use of the majority of the Library’s facilities and through payment for the Library’s energy costs. The imputed annual value of rent for the 63 library facilities that are city-owned was $26.7 million in fiscal 2000, while the costs of energy paid directly by the city totaled $5.4 million. These amounts are reported as Contributed rent, energy, and other services.

Support from the city (other than contributed rent and energy) totaled $119.5 million, an increase of $19.7 million, compared with the prior year. Nearly two-thirds of the increase was non-recurring funding for various capital projects managed by the Library, most notably $10.3 million for renovation and new construction at the Library for the Performing Arts and the Humanities and Social Sciences Library. State support, at $21.9 million, included $0.5
Grants from the federal government, although only 1% of the total budget, support a number of key initiatives. These include preservation of materials in the collections of The Research Libraries related to Latin American history and culture, and conversion to electronic form of The Research Libraries’ catalog of its holdings.

Operating budget support from the private sector is realized through expendable gifts and investment income generated from gifts to endowment. Nearly one-half of the budget for The Research Libraries comes from these two sources, compared with just 5% for The Branch Libraries. For the Library as a whole, there were more than 47,000 non-endowment Contributions from individuals, corporations, and foundations, including promises to give with a total value of $35.1 million in fiscal 2000.

The Library reports its long-term Investment income net of investment management and custodial fees. The investments that produce this income are known as the Library’s “endowment” and comprise its permanently restricted net assets, the reinvested appreciation and accumulated function as endowment. To preserve the investments’ long-term purchasing power, the Trustees make available for spending an amount equal to 6% of the average market value of the investment portfolio for the three preceding years. This is categorized in the Summary of Financial Activities as the 6% spending rate, and equaled $28.2 million in fiscal 2000 -- nearly all for The Research Libraries; this amount also equaled 5.5% of the endowment’s June 30, 2000 market value. These rates of spending compare favorably with average annual total returns (net) of 10.6%, 15.9%, and 13.8% that the Library has realized on its investments over the past one, five, and ten fiscal years, respectively.

The five largest components of Fines, royalties, and other revenue together comprise 80% of the total: reimbursement of expenses under the federal Universal Service Discount program to help defray the cost of advanced telecommunication services – $6.3 million; fines for late return of books and other material borrowed from The Branch Libraries – $2.3 million; interest, dividends, and gains on short-term investment accounts - $2.3 million; fees for document delivery and research – $1.0 million; and fees for
OPERATING EXPENSES

Expenditures for Books and other library materials totaled $12.7 million for The Branch Libraries, an increase of 10% from the level of spending in the prior year. Purchases of library materials by The Research Libraries are reported as Additions to collections, separate from total operating expenses. In contrast to the expendable books and other library materials acquired by The Branch Libraries, which are regularly replaced with new additions and new titles, acquisitions of The Research Libraries are preserved under curatorial control. The Research Libraries expended $12.2 million in fiscal 2000 for the purchase of library materials, the same amount as in the prior year.

Salaries and other expenses of library services, which totaled $196 million, includes both personnel and other costs, excluding the purchase of library materials referred to above. The increase over the prior year was $26.4 million, or 16%. More than one-half of the increase, or $14.4 million, was expended for building and telecommunications infrastructure improvements. The Library recorded a net Excess of operating support and revenues over operating expenses and additions to the excess.

NON-OPERATING SUPPORT, REVENUES, GAINS, AND LOSSES

Additions to permanently restricted net assets (endowment) included $25.0 million in cash and $2.7 million in pledges. Unexpended capital gains reinvested in the Library’s endowment totaled $23.6 million and are reported as Investment return not used for operations. Figure 5 illustrates the combined effects of new gifts to endowment, strong investment performance, and carefully managed spending. The value of the Library’s endowment reached another record fiscal year-end high of $509 million at June 30, 2000.

Since the Library’s founding in 1895, a partnership between the public and private sectors has been the keystone to the Library’s success. As long as their support remains strong, the Library will continue to be financially well-positioned to invest in its collections, its services, and the new technologies required to make those collections accessible.

Exhibitions 20
Public Programs 21
Publications 26
Exhibitions at The New York Public Library are intended to give the general public access to the Library’s rich and varied collections. This year, major exhibitions were mounted at the Humanities and Social Sciences Library, the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture, and the Science, Industry and Business Library, while The New York Public Library for the Performing Arts presented exhibitions at several venues in New York and elsewhere. In addition to the exhibitions listed here, smaller displays were also on view throughout the year in Research Libraries’ reading rooms and in The Branch Libraries.

SIBL Exhibition: Earthly Delights

A sleeping Rio de Janeiro at dawn (pictured) was among the photographs by Yann Arthus-Bertrand featured in Earth from Above: An Aerial Portrait on the Eve of the Year 2000, an exhibition in Healy Hall of the Science, Industry and Business Library. Over a ten-year period, Mr. Arthus-Bertrand photographed majestic sites and topographical patterns, fashioned by both man and nature, in 60 countries. The exhibition, made possible in part by Fuji Film, coincided with the publication of the book Earth from Above (Harry N. Abrams, 2000).

Nureyev: Captured on Film

This year, priceless footage of rehearsals, performances, interviews, documentaries, and never-before-seen camera rushes featuring Rudolf Nureyev—given jointly by the Rudolf Nureyev Foundation, in Liechtenstein, and the Chicago-based Rudolf Nureyev Dance Foundation—brought a new perspective to the career of the world-renowned dancer.

"These films and videotapes will give us all a chance to better understand Nureyev not only for his dance, which was universally celebrated," noted Madeleine Nichols, curator of the Jerome Robbins Dance Division, "but also for his choreography, a talent for which..."

IN THE YEAR 2000

Branches: Reading Hits a Homer

Every year, the 85 branch libraries present thousands of public programs emphasizing books and reading. This year, the New York Mets joined New York’s three public library systems and the Board of Education in asking schoolchildren to “Discover 2000 Read,” by signing up for a summer reading club at their local New York City branch. Mets Manager Bobby Valentine and players Al Leiter, Todd Zeile, and Matt Franco read to a group of 250 children in Rumsey Playfield in Central Park at the Summer Reading Kick-off on June 6. This year, 17,776 kids participated in NYPL’s summer reading program, and read 179,741...
The mission of the Publications Program is twofold: to make information about the Library’s holdings more broadly available to the public through a variety of publications for both scholarly and general audiences, and to generate income for the Library.

IN THE YEAR 2000

LPA Program: Coward Centennial

The temporary closing of the Library for the Performing Arts for renovation didn’t thwart its presentation of a host of public programs, held at the Cooper Union this year. A series called “A Marvelous Party: Noël Coward at 100” celebrated the anniversary of the playwright’s birth, and highlighted the Billy Rose Theatre Collection’s Vandamm photographs, chronicling much of Noël Coward’s work in New York. The opening program on December 10 “Together with Music: A Tribute to Noël Coward Hosted by Steve Ross,” featured Ross and Evalyn Baron (pictured), as well as Frank Langella, Dick Cavett, and Jane Connell, among Extraordinary gifts call for special recognition. The names of donors who have made gifts of $1,000,000 or more, cumulatively, are permanently inscribed on the marble pylons of Astor Hall in the Humanities and Social Sciences Library. IN THE YEAR 2000

Schomburg: 75 Years Celebrated

“If this mighty institution did not exist, we would have to invent it,” said Johnnetta Cole at a luncheon celebrating the 75th Anniversary of the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture. Dr. Cole, President Emeritus of Spelman College, joined other renowned guests at the June event to launch a $25 million capital campaign to build collections, foster new scholarship, and extend access to the Center through digital archives. Currently at 5 million items, the collections represent the world’s largest repository of materials chronicling the history of men and women of African descent, and the Center serves as a vibrant cultural hub that is a touchstone for

Utopia: Citing Paradise

A growing intellectual partnership between the Library and the Bibliothèque nationale de France resulted in the celebrated Utopia: The Search for the Ideal Society in the Western World, which was funded by The Florence Gould Foundation. Through more than 400 maps, books, prints, and drawings culled from the collections of both institutions, the exhibition illustrated that the ideals of utopian thinking have remained constant from antiquity to the present day, even as its practice has taken on unique expression. Shown on both sides of the Atlantic during 2000, the exhibition included a 16th-century first edition of Thomas More's Utopia; Thomas

Seeing Is Believing: Picture Power

The demystifying power of images was examined in Seeing Is Believing: 700 Years of Scientific and Medical Illustration, on view in the Humanities and Social Sciences Library from October 23, 1999, through February 19, 2000. The exhibition showcased the Library's staggering collections in science and medicine, from Copernicus's De revolutionibus orbium coelestium and Vesalius's De humani corporis fabrica, texts which planted the seeds of the 17th-century scientific revolution, to the contributions of Newton, Harvey, Darwin, Curie, and others. Some 250 woodcuts, engravings, lithographs, and photographs – works of art

Young Lions: Coming in with a Roar

This year, the creation of Young Lions, a new membership group, attracted hundreds of Library devotees in their 20s and 30s, whose contributions support books and technology in The Research Libraries. The group’s provocative lecture series featured authors Susan Minot (Evening), Rick Moody (The Ice Storm), and Melissa Bank (The Girls’ Guide to Hunting and Fishing); actor-turned-author Ethan Hawke (reading T. S. Eliot’s Ash Wednesday); and entertainment artists Francis Ford Coppola and Marisa Tomei. Among those who appeared, Young Lions Committee Member George Stephanopoulos (pictured, right) hosted a panel discussion with press heavyweights Eric Alterman.

Preservation: Intensive Care

The Barbara Goldsmith Preservation Division operates in effect as the Library’s “intensive care unit,” handling the physical preservation of book and paper-based collections of The Research Libraries. Last year, more than 110,000 items were diagnosed, identified, recorded, repaired, rebound, stabilized, and treated for water, mold, and insect damage – saving many collections from certain extinction. This year, the division was named for historian and Library Trustee Barbara Goldsmith in recognition of her significant contributions to collections preservation, and her...

South Beach:
Space Considerations

The reopening of a neighborhood branch library, often the vibrant intellectual hub of its community, is cause for great celebration in the city. On March 23, local residents and Library staff joined State Senator Vincent Gentile, Assemblyman Eric Vitaliano, Borough President Guy V. Molinari, and City Council Member James Oddo in an event that inaugurated the new South Beach Branch of The New York Public Library in Staten Island — one of several branch reopenings this year. At its new site, the South Beach Branch provides triple the amount of space of its predecessor, expanded collections and programs, T-I lines
Statement of Commitment to Equal Employment Opportunity
The Library recruits, hires, trains, promotes, and compensates without regard to race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, citizenship status, marital status, sexual orientation, disability, veteran status, political affiliation, or any other characteristic protected by law. All employment decisions at the Library are made on the basis of merit and job requirements. The Library is committed to a program of Affirmative Action for minorities, women, disabled individuals, and disabled and Vietnam-era veterans to ensure equal employment opportunities without discrimination prohibited by law. The Library is committed to act affirmatively to ensure the full utilization of each of these groups on our staff.

The New York Public Library is a not-for-profit education corporation incorporated under the laws of the State of New York. The Library is exempt from federal income tax as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and is a publicly supported organization under section 170 of the Code.

Gifts and bequests to the Library are deductible under the federal income, estate, and gift tax laws. For federal tax purposes, the Library uses its formal corporate name: The New York Public Library, Astor, Lenox and Tilden Foundations (reflecting its incorporation by the consolidation of the Astor Library, the Lenox Library, and the Tilden Trust). The Trustees of the Library recommend that for estate planning purposes, friends consider the following language for use in their Wills:

“I give and bequeath (dollar amount, percentage of residuary estate, or description of property) to The New York Public Library, Astor, Lenox and Tilden Foundations, Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street, New York, New York 10018, for the Library’s general purposes.”

If you wish to make a bequest for a specific purpose, it is suggested that you consider adding the following language to any restriction you may impose on your bequest:

“If at any time in the judgment of the Trustees of the Library the designated purpose of this bequest proves to be impracticable or impossible, I authorize the Trustees to use the income and principal of this bequest for any purpose they deem to be consistent with the general intent and purpose set forth herein.”

Should you decide to leave a bequest to the Library in your Will, you will become a member of the Bigelow Society. Created by the Library in 1991, the Bigelow Society is an honorary organization whose purpose is to recognize the generosity of individuals, during their lifetime, who include this institution in their estate plans. The Library expresses its gratitude to members by inviting them to special Library events, by listing their names in the Annual Report under the Bigelow Society (see pages 46–50), and by sending them a personalized certificate signed by the President and Chairman of the Library.

If you or your attorney would like to discuss a bequest with a member of the Library’s staff, please call Stephanie Adams at 212.930.0613, or write to her at plannedgifts@nypl.org or at the following address: Development Office,

THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY, a private corporation, formally came into existence on May 23, 1895, as a result of the consolidation of the Astor Library, Lenox Library, and Tilden Trust. In January 1901, the existing New York Free Circulating Library merged with The New York Public Library; a few months later, Andrew Carnegie offered a gift of funds to build 65 branch libraries throughout New York City, providing that the City would supply the sites and fund the libraries’ maintenance and operations. In July 1901, The New York Public Library contracted with the City of New York to operate the Carnegie branches in the Bronx, Manhattan, and Staten Island. Today, under one name and guided by one Board of Trustees, The New York Public Library operates four major research facilities and 85 circulating libraries in three boroughs.
