								On cover: Synopsis: A party about to sail for Europe is escorted to a steamer by a Military Band. The Band is gradually heard approaching, and arriving at the pier plays a Bon Voyage air. The steamer's own
								Band responds to this gracious greeting, and then the vessel starts on its journey, with the Band playing a farewell, and the one on shore, playing the American air Dixie. When the steamer gets under full way, the music on board becomes fainter, while the strains of the Band on shore marching homeward, grow similarly softer and is finally heard
